GENERAL TRADE. There was some improvement apparent is business on Front street yesterday, but not sufficient to characterize it as brisk. Some movements were reported in feedstuffs, in which prices were a shade advanced. Flour is higher and the market steady; cornmeal is is higher and the market steady; cornments still looking up; butter is higher, but cheese lower; hog products are steady at previous quotations; apples are unchanged, but supplies of better grades, which have been scarce, are looked for, which may tone down present fancy prices.
